

Working individuals or families may be eligible for the Commonwealth of Virginia income tax credit.

Two ways to increase your income:

- ✓ The Federal Earned Income Tax Credit
- ✓ The Commonwealth of Virginia Tax Credit

The Credit for Low Income Individuals (CLI) is a tax credit for people who work hard and don't make much money. You must meet certain requirements to be eligible.

If your total family Virginia adjusted gross income is less than the amounts established under federal poverty guidelines, or the United States Department of Health and Human Services Poverty guidelines, you may qualify to claim the CLI.

Find out if you qualify for the CLI by visiting:
<http://www.tax.virginia.gov/site.cfm?alias=LowIncomeCredit>.

Claiming the credit is quick and easy when you use iFile, the free State Internet filing service, to file your Virginia income tax return. If you are eligible to claim the CLI, iFile will guide you through a simple step-by-step process to fill out your return and compute your credit.
