Dean and I and our family are Vegetarians. We like to have a quick meal called haystacks. It's like a taco salad on a plate. We like a lot of different foods but this is something anyone can make.

See Beth's Haystack Recipe in the "Bishop Family Favorite Recipe" section in the back of the book.

bride, Yvette Rousseau of East Lansing, friend of the bride, Tammy Schnell of Chesaning, sister of the bride, Dana Dumond of Corunna, sister of the groom, and Carrie Drexler of Chesaning, friend of the bride.

Mark Krupp of New Lothrop, brother of the groom, served as Best Man. Groomsmen were Greg Schnell of Chesaning, brother of the bride, Joe Dotson of New Lothrop, friend of the groom, Randy Wendling of New Lothrop, friend of the groom, Leo Wendling of New Lothrop, friend of the groom, Thede Krupp of New Lothrop, brother of the groom, Dan Krupp of Owosso, friend of the groom, and Mike Wendling of New Lothrop, friend of the groom.

Ushers were Jim Wenzlick of New Lothrop, friend of the groom, Jeff Schnell of Chesaning, brother of the bride and Barry Brown of New Lothrop, friend of the groom.

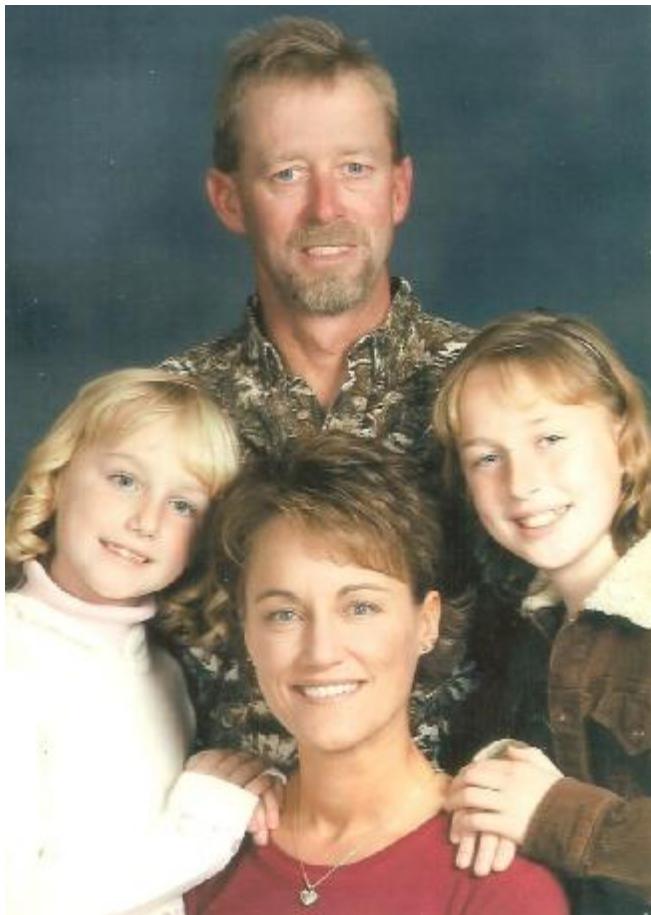

The bride wore a full-length satin gown accented by a sweetheart neckline, balloon short sleeves, iridescent pearls, beads and sequins and a Royale length train with lace cut-outs and trim. Her veil was made of iridescent pearls and beaded head band with short length netting.

She carried a bouquet composed of an assortment of pastel flowers accented by iridescent flowers and pearls.

The couple greeted 575 guests at a reception held at the Our Lady of Perpetual Help Parish Hall before leaving on their honeymoon to the Eastern States.

The bride is employed at The Memorial Healthcare Center of Owosso as a speech-language pathologist. The groom is employed at Furstenberg Lumber Co. of Montrose as a truck driver. The couple resides in Chesaning.

by Dana (Krupp) Dumond
(Submitted in 1994)

Terry is a licensed building contractor. When he's not working, he enjoys hunting, fishing, woodworking, running, and he loves being a M.S.U. fan. (I even think his blood is green J) Although he did not attend M.S.U. himself, Terry's Uncle Gordon Serr was a part of the coaching staff for the football team in the 60's. Terry enjoys watching football and hockey best.

I, Dana, work at Memorial Healthcare Center in Owosso in the Radiology Department as a Technician Assistant. My interest / hobbies include woodworking, crafts, crocheting, shopping, dancing, listening to music of all kinds and most of all spending time with my new son and the rest of our families.

Spina Bifida Isn't Stopping Young Mark Borsenik

BRANT — Sitting in her spacious country home Sally Borsenik looks as if everything in her life is under control. But it wasn't always that way.

"I never used to think of myself as a strong person," she confides. "If anyone had told me I could live through what I have, I wouldn't have believed it. I wasn't strong."

Two years after their marriage, Sally and Mike Borsenik had to make an important decision about their first born son, Mark's future. When the doctors told the Borseniks of their infant son's spinal bifida (open spine) condition, they said without surgery the child would surely die. With it, he would have a fighting chance.

They couldn't be sure how healthy he would be. Maybe he would be retarded. At this point they just didn't know.

Within 24 hours Mark, five pounds, 9 ounces, was taken from the Owosso Hospital to Flint where he was operated on and his spinal column was closed and therapy with him. "Mark was so bright and friendly, I saw how he would try anything, he had no fear of failure. Getting him from a wheelchair to walking with a cane, two shunt revisions, closing of his spine and tonsils and adrenoids. Each office call is another trip to Detroit.

Mark, a bright-eyed, alert, baby who kept his mother and father entertained the way infants do as they develop. First, he smiled, then he laughed and then he recognized both his mother and father and began to make sounds that resembled words.

He did everything baby books describe as part of the normal infants' emotional and mental development. But he didn't do any of those things that require strength in the back or legs. Because he seemed especially alert the young couple began to think their son would not be retarded, though there was no medical confirmation of their hopes. "It's too soon to tell," the doctors said.

Sally tells how she committed herself to doing the very best job she could with her son. Daily she did exercises and therapy with him.

They had fun in the Special Olympics too. "I like to do" Mark said, "is help dad at the Body Shop, and I had fun in the Special Olympics too."

Safely out of surgery, Mark required more care than he could be given at home and three days later

Presently at age 10, Mark is undergoing surgery for spinal fusion. He is a patient at Henry Ford Hospital for the month of July. His doctors say he will be in a body cast for nine months.

During this nine months Mark will be tutored at home; however, when the cast is removed, Mark will enter the 4th grade at St. Charles Elementary School.

Today Mark is a happy, fun loving boy. He is interested in birds and in the garden he helped plant. Mark plans to harvest his garden and sell his products by the road later this summer. He loves to swim in the pond on their property, thanks to the excellent swimming lessons of Marlene Punford. "Another thing I like to do" Mark said, "is help dad at the Body Shop, and I had fun in the Special Olympics too." During this critical period that the vertebrates failed to develop around his spinal cord. That was when it was determined that he would not have enough strength in his legs, thighs and back to support his normal size body. Years of constant exercises and therapy are therefore needed, because without them the muscles will contract and the legs, feet and hips become distorted into grotesque positions.

At birth, the Spina Bifida victims spinal cord is frequently exposed, and a high percentage of these children develop hydrocephalus (fluid on the brain). Some 10% of the estimated 12,000 children that are born each year with spina bifida are retarded.

At one time, over 80% of all Spina Bifida victims died shortly after they were born. Today, there is not only hope for these children, but a change in both medical experience and attitude toward this congenital birth defect.

WHAT IS SPINA BIFIDA?

How and why was Mark Borsenik? No one knows for sure. What is known is that somewhere between the fourth and sixth week of his prenatal development something went wrong. It was during this critical period that the vertebrates failed to develop around his spinal cord. That was when it was determined that he would not have enough strength in his

Memories of Peter & Margaret Bishop By: Joyce (Wendling) Kieffer

Growing up as a child, I spent a lot of quality time living with Grandma in the house located by the church. She had a beautiful flower bed that started at Fermen Road and ran North to the property line and West to the other property line. I spent hours hoeing and weeding for her. She taught me how to can vegetables and fruit and bake.

Every morning no matter how tired we were, we would rise and shine by 7:00 a.m. and go to mass. My sisters and I would spend time with Grandma because our mother who had M.S. would be hospitalized. Then later in life when I was about 12 or 13 years old, Grandma cut her fingers off in the storm window and I spent 2 weeks with her and helped her with the daily chores. During that time, she showed me how to have the whitest wash possible and iron shirts to perfection.

I have a lot to thank her for. She was a beautiful woman. During our stay, when I was younger, Grandpa would spend a lot of the day at the farm on Bishop Road helping Alphonse farm. In the evening which was usually summer time, he would come home late in the evenings and Grandma would always have a lunch ready for him. I will never forget the tea he drank in the mustache cup. I don't remember a lot about Grandpa.

Engagement

Wendling-DeBusschere

John and Jeriann
Wendling, of Chesaning, announce the engagement of their daughter,
Jennifer Wendling, to Marc DeBusschere, of Grand Blanc. He is the son of Gerard and Mary Ann DeBusschere of Grand Blanc.

The bride-elect earned a bachelor of business administration degree from the University of Michigan Ann Arbor.
She is a banker at National City Bank.

The prospective bridegroom earned a bachelor of business administration degree from Western Michigan University.
He is a licensed financial consultant at National City Bank.
A May 22, 2010 wedding is being planned.

Jennifer Wendling and Marc DeBusschere.

John Wendling sent this great photo of his siblings to share with everyone. He also shared a story below that is a wonderful memory for me.

By John Wendling

Kim, do you remember when you were young and you and your brothers used to ride on the tractors with me & Andy, my brother and Cork, my Dad when we used to farm Kenny Bishop's land right by your Dad's house. I always wanted to get the tractor with the radio and I can remember singing those 1970's songs at the top of my lungs. I'm sure you remember and I'm sure your brothers do too. What fun!

John signed the letter: P. S. I'm still singing J John

John, yes I do remember riding on the tractors with you. I also remember there were too many of us at times who wanted to ride, so we had to take turns. I remember that even if the tractor had no radio, we still would sing the songs we could remember the words to. That must be why I can still sing those songs today! Ha! It was great fun and thanks to your Dad, Andy and you for letting us ride and farm with you.

Harold & Rose Marie (Basel) Bishop Family

The only other photos I found (at Mom & Dad's) of Uncle Harold and his family are below. Uncle Harold is in the tux in the middle of the first photo. The wedding couple is in the second photo. The wedding is for his son or daughter. If anyone recognizes the couple, please contact me so that I may update the information.

Harold and Rose Marie (Basel) Bishop had a total of 12 children. Timothy died 5 months after he was born. I do not know the cause. The other 11 children are still all alive to the best of my knowledge.

Following are the names, addresses, and number of children that were provided by Harold Bishop back in 1994 for his children. They will be listed here vs. in the data section such that the data section can be updated when the new addresses are found for each of the them.

Great photo! Thanks to the John Bishop Family for submitting it for the book.

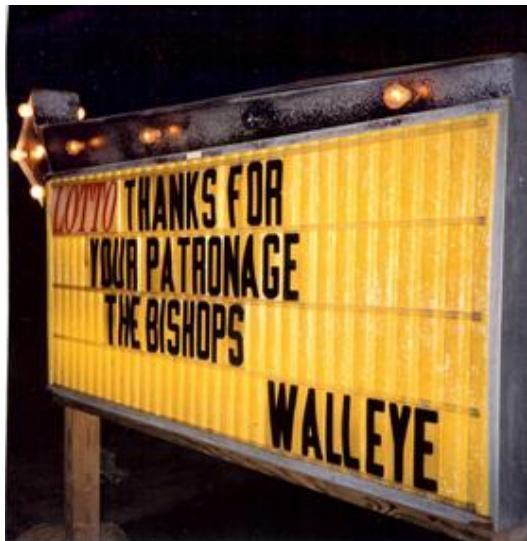

Written by: Helen (Klein) Bishop

On October 18, 1941, John Bishop married Helen Klein at St. Michael's Church in Maple Grove. Ten children were born into the family. They grew up on an 80 acre farm in Maple Grove Township. They all graduated from St. Michael's and New Lothrop High Schools. They all attended St. Michael's Church.

John worked for General Motors in Flint and farmed with the help of his family. In 1967, John and his family built and operated a restaurant and party store at Layton Corners known as "Johnnys". Due to John's poor health, it was sold in December 1990. John's death followed on April 4, 1991.

How many of you remember this?

This is the menu for Johnny's Restaurant. Note that Uncle John used the "Bischoff" Family crest on the front of the menu.

The "Bishop" Family crest is different. You will see it later in the book. I have not had time to research the family crest to date. Hopefully in the future.

Judy Birchmeier retires after 31 years with Twin Township Ambulance

NEW LOTHROP – Judy Birchmeier, an EMT with Twin Township Ambulance of New Lothrop, has retired from active duty after 31 years of serving the community.

She started with TTA when it opened its doors on July 4, 1978. On that first day of service, TTA had a used Dodge ambulance and shared its quarters with the township office, the village office, the library and the police department.

Birchmeier and her husband, Ernie, worked the family farm and raised 10 children, and she still had time to be on duty, often after the kids went to bed.

Birchmeier has held many positions for TTA. She has served as the secretary for the Board of Directors. She served on the Board of Review. And on most Mondays for many years she sent out get well cards to TTA's patients from the previous week.

Judy Birchmeier

The commitment that she has shown is a wonderful tribute to her and to her dedication to the community.

“Judy is one of the people that make our community what it is today,” said Jeff Ebenhoeh, president of the TTA Board of Directors. “Her donations of time, ability and experience is something that we no longer see today. Judy is truly a perfect example of what every person, who wants to improve their community, should be. We are a safer and stronger community because of people like her. We all owe Judy, Ernie and her family a great debt of gratitude for her unwavering 31 years of service.”

Found this article while reading the local paper at Dad's (Vic Bishop).

Congratulations on your retirement Judy!

Everyone in the John Bishop Family could sing. We always tried to sing in quartet fashion – most times we could do it. I (Bernie) sang in the church choir since 14 yrs. old – 35 years and will keep on singing. I was Dad's handyman at the restaurant and still am with the new owner.

Harriett works in Owosso Hospital and does book-keeping work. We married November 10, 1990 at St. Mike's in Maple Grove.

- the sweetest and neatest “sleeping beauty” I’ve ever known.
- her hobby is sewing and adding more color and designs to shirts and sweaters
- excellent gardener – has a green thumb
- my hobby is craft work – selling it at the restaurant showcase

Our hobby together is bowling – best of our sports. We plan on living in our home “til the good Lord calls us – a long time from now” J .

The following story was submitted by Robert (Bob) Bishop. Since this article is of Helen's parents Paul & Amelia Klein, some might feel it belongs in a Klein Family Genealogy Book. I've chosen to include it here for the benefit of the John & Helen (Klein) Bishop Family as to me it is history. It was fun to read and it talks of the generation where we can imagine our ancestors living similar events.

Paul and Amelia

Written By: Robert (Bob) Bishop
#4 child of 10 of John & Helen (Klein) Bishop

My maternal grandparents, Paul and Amelia Klein, somehow always looked like grandparents to me. They were probably the most genteel pair of people I've ever had the pleasure of knowing.

As young children, our brood was occasionally dropped off at Grandma Klein's house on Fermen Road, while Mother and Dad took care of whatever biz it was that wouldn't allow the accompaniment of our handful of a 1-year-apart-family-pack of kids: attending funerals, visiting friends miles away, giving birth to another child or two...that sort of thing, that was more or less routine on our 80-acre Maple Grove Township farm in southern Saginaw County, in the 1940s and '50s.

A former school teacher, Grandma Klein absolutely spellbound us as she rocked slowly in her diminutive knitting chair and spun story after story to her wanna-be students, who had been pre-rewarded Pavlovian-style, with delicious Ritz crackers, milk and Kool-Aide. Of course, we knew the crackers as "cookies" because the lesser, humbler Saltines brand was the fare at our house, just 4 miles away. Our wide eyes also watch incredulously as her knitting needles sometimes flew into Maple Grove warp speed to whip out entire wardrobes as we soaked in the refreshments (and now-forgotten) fables. I do remember that we all had our favorites, and Grandma often took requests allowing her to launch from one story into the next without missing a beat -- or a stitch. If we asked politely, Grandma would sometimes allow a few of the older kids -- two at a time -- to climb the pre-OSHA steep and creaky spruce stairs to the attic to crank the mint-condition RCA Victrola on an old 78 rpm record. RCA's cutesy logo dog "Victor" adorned the ingenious machine on a rectangular brass plate on the front, that also sported a removable "horn" that was capable of sending surprisingly loud but scratchy orchestra music down the stairs and into the ears of the younger siblings who could only hope to grow up soon so that Grandma would choose them for the honor that awaited at the top of the stairs. Like the thick carpeting in the living room, the attic stairs were also covered in a former lush, wool carpet runner. I remember the hot attic, and the light that spilled into it onto the Victrola from the north-facing window, but not much more detail remains in my cortex. Another tidbit: Grandma's house was one of only two that I can remember in the Maple Grove area that had an actual door bell that rang out a couple of bing-bong notes when an eager index fingered grandchild would ask if he could ring it just once more, for the 38th time. The other door belled house was that of Uncle Syl and Aunt Dorothy (Klein) Dietering several miles east and south of Grandma's house.

Grandma Klein used quizzical words and pronunciations that carried forward to all of her children (Dorothy, Mildred, Donna, Helen, Gene - the only boy - and Delores ("Sis"), if memory serves, but that usage ended with her kids. None of her grandchildren and descendent offspring carried them on: words like: "draw" instead of "drawer"; and "want", as in "I want (won't) be needing that"; and, "I darcen't say anything because ...", where "darcen't" meant "dare not". But often: "You darce take another 'cookie'", meant that we could have another one. And if one needed something, my Grandma and her kids were likely to "borrow" it to you, instead of "loaning" it. Go figure. Those old German colloquialisms are probably best left to the linguists, which is exactly what happened -- apparently.

Sometimes our mother Helen would give her mother a "permanent" hair treatment, an often alternatively referred to service as "setting" her hair, or "fixing" her hair. The question occurred to me at that pivotal age that if these treatments were intended to be permanent, why would Grandma's hair need fixing so often? Those foul-smelling hair preparations by a Proctor and Gamble precursor were called "LILT Home Permanents" and the gooey, stinky mess came in a pink and green box...very '50s. The LILT slime was green too. That process involved perhaps 25,000 hair pins, an abundant bath towel around Grandma's shrinking neck, a barber's shears to snip off 3/4s of an inch of gooey hair ends that fell onto the towel, a "rat-tailed" comb for dividing Grandma's gray and thinning hair like a miniature farm implement behind a miniature tractor, into small patches that resembled so many tiny grain fields after cultivation, and for poking and shaping the hundreds of small curls, that were eventually flattened and secured in place with the hairpins and covered for some mysterious reason by a black or gray hair net resembling butterfly netting. Of course, we studied Grandma's far-sighted face as she sat head-bent forward without her reading glasses, which lay folded and ready for duty on the "doily" atop the polished wooden bureau against the west wall. Mother held perhaps a half dozen waiting hairpins in her lips as she tamped and finger-twirled each curl into submission. With each push, tamp and twirl, Grandma's head would bob forward, as if agreeing in silence with the permanent ritual.

Lunch for the grandkids was generally a half sandwich, bowl of soup and a celery stick or some such, around Grandma's smallish kitchen table. And if we were lucky, another pair of "cookies", which were loosely packed in the red "cardboard" box, would be carefully stacked next to each soup bowl. It would be years before the manufacturing geniuses would pack them in vertical waxed paper sleeves to preserve freshness. Of course Grandma's cookies did just that without the use of storage sleeves. Grandma was the perfect homemaker in her hard soled school-marm-style, thick heeled leather shoes and her seeming endless and ever-present supply of floral patterned aprons.

Grandpa Klein was a handy man who could fix or make anything without the use of power tools. I think he prided himself being able to do just fine without them, thank you very much. I had the pleasure of being his apprentice when I was about 13 or 14 when Dad had asked him if he could lay a tongue and groove pine floor in the original barn's mow, above the milk stanchions and grain storage bin opposite the original silo that sat on the west side of it. A couple of summer days later, Grandpa Klein showed up with a hay wagon load of lumber, a hand saw, a nail hammer, carpenter's pencil stuck between his hatband and his depleting hair, a nail apron full of 8-penny headless finish nails from Furstenberg's Lumber in Montrose, and his trademark small trickle of tobacco chaw juice that slowly flowed down his laugh lines on either side of his chin. When other workers would pause to screed the sweat off their brows with their thumb and flick it away - sometimes onto unsuspecting youngsters and dogs, Grandpa Klein's approach was to skim the tobacco juice out of his laugh line troughs with his thumb and forefinger, and wipe it unconsciously on the right thigh of his cover-all. My favorite tool - and I think his as well - was his nail set polished clean from use like a surgeon's tool, and his sectional, hinged wooden measuring "stick". He was a master at his hand tooled craft...and the loudest noise he ever produced was from his hammer driving the nails through thin pine into what Dad called "piss elm" floor joists cut from the woods 300 yards to the south. (Grandpa Klein was the 180-degree opposite of the hot-headed, go-like-hell carpenter with a skill saw that was "Fox" Haynes. Fox was hired more often than Grandpa for the many building projects around the farm - especially finishing and refinishing the house. "Fox" was nick-named I suppose because of his slicked back red hair and freckled face and hands. He also sported tattoos on his forearms from his US Navy days in WWII. His watch was attached to his left wrist with an impressive, custom-made polished steel/silver clip-on band. He had a loud sharp laugh like a rip or two from a 30:06 rifle. He was interesting to watch, but was lacking as a conversationalist).

I'd lift the boards into place and spot his measuring stick flush on one end. Grandpa'd unfold and refold his measuring stick after marking each next space and board to prevent accidental damage to his prized tool. He'd mark the right length, pencil a saw line across the board following his 24-inch square's steel edge with his red and black flat carpenter's pencil. While propping the board on his thighs, Grandpa would deftly make a perfect cross-cut erasing the pencil line on the board with his saw's hungry teeth -- that had been sharpened by old John Turnwald who lived just south of New Lothrop -- all the while kneeling on his work and without knee pads. His blue-striped bib overalls, a long-sleeved shirt, his old dress "Stetson" hat and his brown leather work boots, were just as much his trademark as were his telltale facial tobacco juice lines.

Grandpa Klein's 1957 red and white DeSoto's chrome-draped tail fins and general flare, would have made Flash Gordon's alter ego Ming The Merciless whimper out of pure starship jealousy. When he appeared in that car, sitting a bit short in the saddle, he always looked the part of a township dude. The top of Grandma's silver-curved head could usually be "spied" (seen), to use her word. I seem to recall that Grandpa's previous car was an equally impressive, early 50-ish, mostly pea green Imperial, but I could be wrong about that.

During most visits to his farm, we enjoyed touring Grandpa's tool shed and granary across the driveway from the house and garage. They were always neat and clean - like a movie set. It was the very kind of "set" that Indiana Jones might have strolled out of while studying a map and wolfing on a sandwich, while pausing momentarily to shoot a crazed man wielding a sword. An approx 10-12 ton rock stood guard in the yard near the front door to the granary that we enjoyed trying to scale to play "king on the mountain", but we were constantly reminded that it was a long fall down to earth. We also climbed Grandpa's prized pear trees in his side-front yard orchard and ate our little bellies full on occasion. His medium-sized red barn was south of all the other outbuildings. His fields and woods were on either side and beyond it southward.

One of my favorite stories involved Grandpa mowing his front lawn with his well-sharpened push mower (not an un-propelled mower, but an actual rotary bladed PUSH mower). After several "rounds" around the lawn, he managed to rile up a "blue racer" snake one day as he'd done a few times previous. Each time the mower approached the front flowerbed where it hugged the cement sidewalk that tongued northward toward the mailbox, the territorializing viper would take to chasing Grandpa away from its den. Despite his perhaps 5' 6" frame with is work boots on, Grandpa was not about to be made sport of. On this day, he caught sight of the snake heading his way with an attitude, so he turned his mower around into the joust, quickly resulting in a stretch of twice-mowed lawn, littered with neatly sliced snake parts, some of which refused to accept their fate, and continued to move around for a while. When he re-told the story, he was amused by it such that his little pot belly below his hiked-up belt, jiggled like a miniature Santa Clause'.

My mother once told me that Grandpa was morbidly afraid of water - swimming, boating, even walking in it...he just wouldn't do it. She said he'd told her it was because when he was a teenager, some older kids had been funning around with the younger kid, and had held him under water longer than healthy and he nearly drowned. I've never asked if mother's fear of water or perhaps better described as her sea sickness, was somehow related. She's known to have gotten "sick to her stomach", while watching the rippling bathwater while sitting in the tub. Dad confirmed the findings and thought it was one of the strangest things he'd ever witnessed. I'll fess up now and tell you that I tested Mother's fear of water / sea sickness several times in the fall of 2003 and 2004 when she vacationed with Kathy and me in the Rogers City, MI area, on Lake Huron. She sat in a camp chair on a floating dock in a Grayling area lake where we had our lunch enroute to the rental cottage, and she sat in the belly of our canoe when we paddled for a half hour around Twin Lakes, seven miles NW of Rogers City on US 23. She loved the experiences so we concluded, perhaps wrongly, that like poison ivy reactions, headaches and other maladies, perhaps she'd lost those phobias in her later years).

I digress...during our winter visits, on several occasions ,Grandpa let us take pot-shots at a rabbit (wild varying hare) that we noticed sitting in the driveway near his garage / across from the granary. He'd load the hex barrel, pump-style, 22-cal Remington and steady us on the south porch for perhaps a 40-yard shot. We usually got off 2 or 3 rounds before the rabbit would decide to find something better to do that featured better odds. To my knowledge none of us kids ever drew rabbit blood, but I remember Grandpa making a good shot on a rabbit one day as it made the mistake of hopping out of his open granary door, as Grandpa was scraping some cow huzzonga off his work boots. That handsome grain-fed rabbit was probably his and Grandma's dinner that day.

Grandma and Grandpa Klein have been gone a very long time (she in 1988 at 97, and he in 1970 at 80), but my vivid memories keep them close.

A photo of the Paul & Amelia Klein clan taken on their 50th wedding anniversary, on Sunday June 17, 1963, at the Maple Grove Township Hall. Paul & Amelia are seated on the front steps, second row from the top, in the middle of the doorway. Daughter Helen is over Amelia's shoulder in the black & white dress. Her husband John Bishop is standing to the far right, middle row, second from the end, w/unbuttoned suit coat. John & Helen's 10 children are sprinkled among their maternal grandparent's - 77 relatives. Note the "1892" sandstone dedication stone near the peak (it's almost cut off). The Maple Grove Township Hall has been remolded and expanded a few times since this photo was taken, but the hall still stands as of this writing @ year end 2010, at Layton Corners, in Southern Saginaw County, MI, at the intersection of Peet Road (M-57) and Lincoln Road. This was also the site of Helen E. (Klein) Bishop's 90th birthday open house on April 18, 2010. and although remodeled a bit, still stands as of the year end, 2010.

Hi Kim,

Glad you are taking the time to do this. What a neat thing but what a lot of work. I wouldn't have the time...not that you do J I guess all I can talk about so you won't get lots of repetition per family is what I've done (and not done!!).

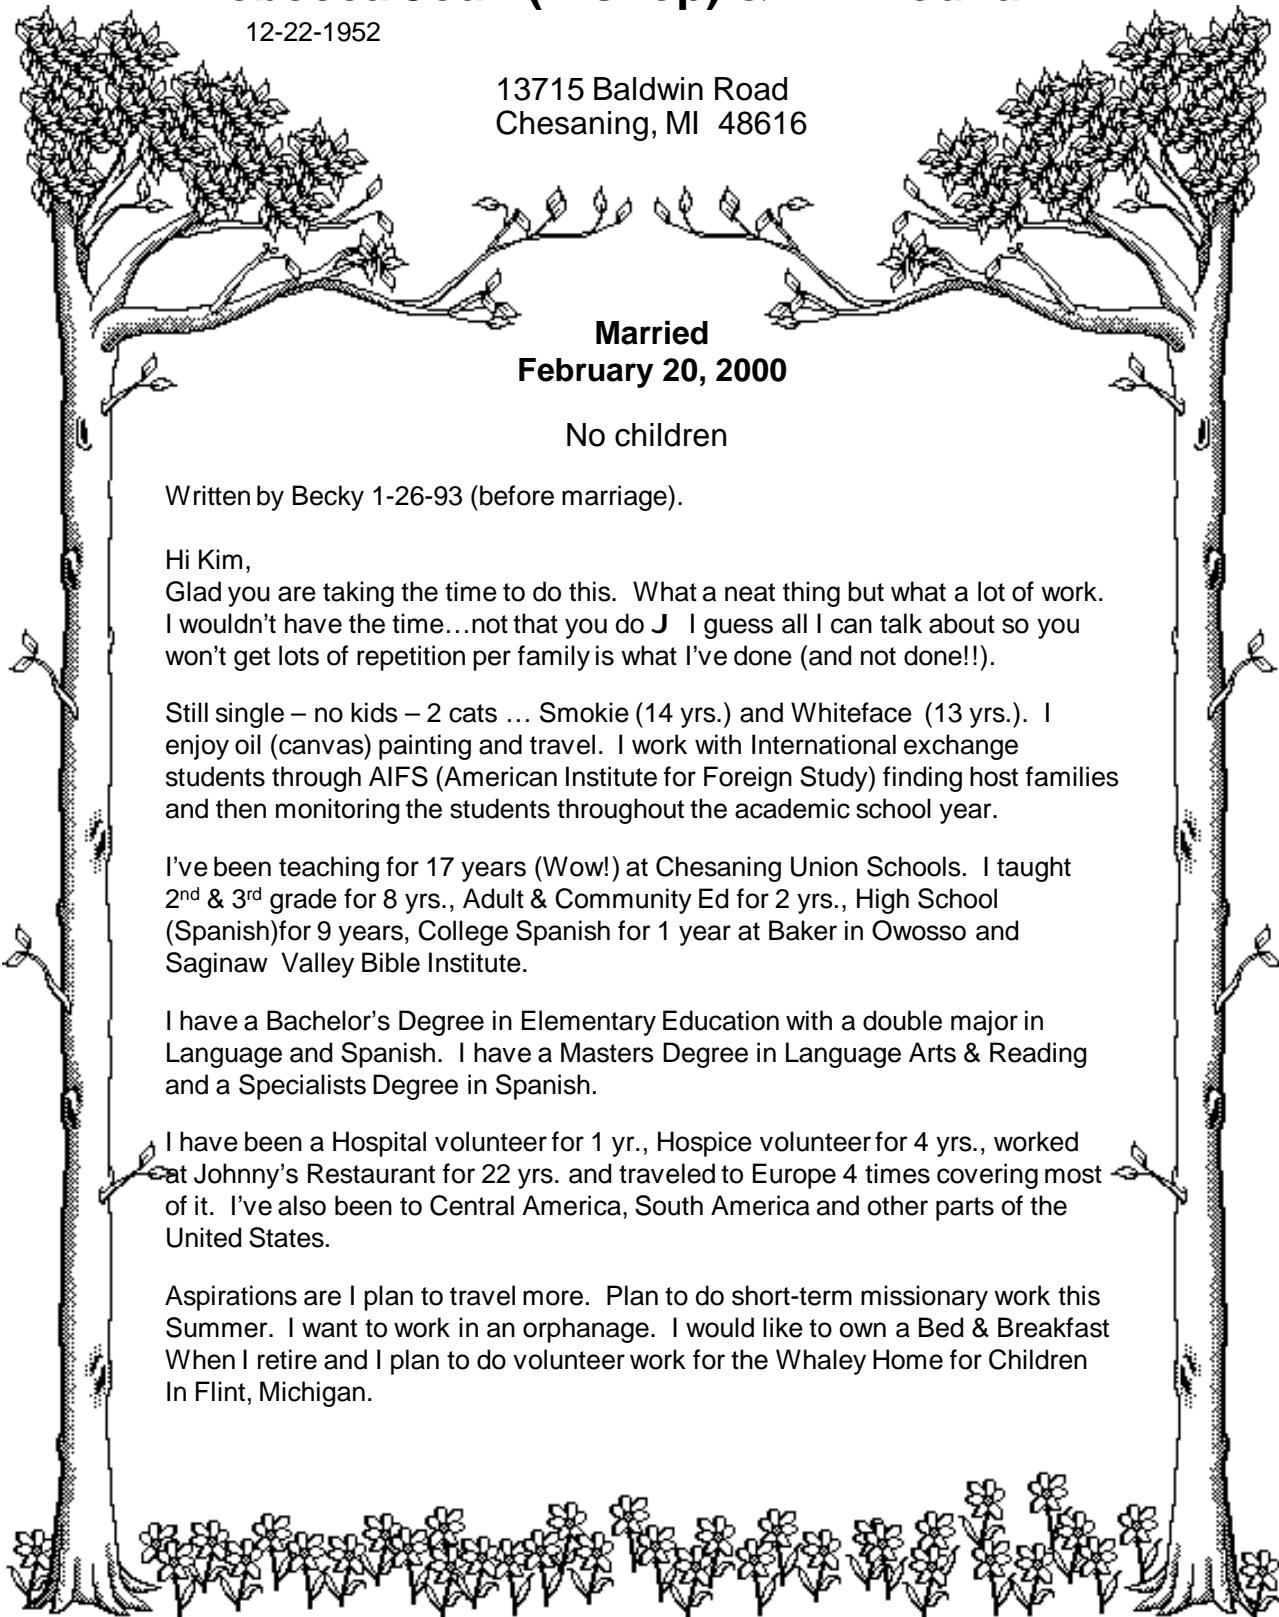

Still single – no kids – 2 cats ... Smokie (14 yrs.) and Whiteface (13 yrs.). I enjoy oil (canvas) painting and travel. I work with International exchange students through AIFS (American Institute for Foreign Study) finding host families and then monitoring the students throughout the academic school year.

I've been teaching for 17 years (Wow!) at Chesaning Union Schools. I taught 2nd & 3rd grade for 8 yrs., Adult & Community Ed for 2 yrs., High School (Spanish) for 9 years, College Spanish for 1 year at Baker in Owosso and Saginaw Valley Bible Institute.

I have a Bachelor's Degree in Elementary Education with a double major in Language and Spanish. I have a Masters Degree in Language Arts & Reading and a Specialists Degree in Spanish.

I have been a Hospital volunteer for 1 yr., Hospice volunteer for 4 yrs., worked at Johnny's Restaurant for 22 yrs. and traveled to Europe 4 times covering most of it. I've also been to Central America, South America and other parts of the United States.

Aspirations are I plan to travel more. Plan to do short-term missionary work this Summer. I want to work in an orphanage. I would like to own a Bed & Breakfast When I retire and I plan to do volunteer work for the Whaley Home for Children In Flint, Michigan.

Memories of Grandma (Margaret) Bishop

By Becky (Bishop) Bodnar

Grandma always made us kneel down and say the "Angeles" every time the bells rang (if we were visiting). She got me started making rosary bracelets and rosaries. I made all different colors. I believe this was my first hobby.

Whenever we went as kids to visit Grandma, she always gave us ice cream. We would always fight over that beautiful glass paper weight she had.

Once when I was in 2nd grade, Grandma was sick. The day after Christmas, Mom & Dad made me go stay with her for a few days. I was bummed! I could only take my new color book and paints. I wanted to be home playing with my toys. What a penance! I didn't mind staying with Grandma, but I was so bored and she made me pray all day long as well as the before bed prayers! We said every litany there was! I think she was "praying me ahead" in case I didn't pray during my teen years...ha! I was so glad when my turn was up and I got to go home.

Cheryl, known more as Chery, was the 4th daughter and the 8th child in our family of 10. She played sports in high school and also enjoyed bowling. She started out cooking at the restaurant and became one of the best cooks we had there. She then went to work at Buick where she eventually became an experimental test mechanic. She could fix your car in the morning and cook a delicious dinner with dessert in the evening! This woman was talented in every way.

May daughter, Nicole was blessed to have her as a Godmother, but only for a short time. Always having fun and usually the life of the party, she made us all laugh. Chery enjoyed her many friends at work and joined a softball team there. Loving the great outdoors, she bought a snowmobile and later a cabin up north. Sadly that is where she died, doing what she loved, snowmobiling.

A great daughter, sister and friend to all, she will always be missed. I'm sure that Chery is up in heaven with Dad (John) and many other family members and friends, dancing, singing, and waiting to greet us when our time arrives.

Memories of Grandma Bishop

Written by Sandy (Bishop) Damveld

I can remember going to Grandma Bishop's house and sitting very quietly as I'd hang onto her glass ball with the snow inside. My sisters and I would want to hang onto it at the same time. We knew better than to fight over it.

I can remember arriving at Grandma's house and finding her sitting quietly in her rocking chair and holding onto her beautiful rosary praying.

I can remember dying of thirst and not wanting to ask for a drink of water because it made you make terrible faces after drinking that salty stuff.

I can remember playing red light, green light on Grandma's front porch steps as our parents visited with her.

I can remember sitting real still in the corner and listening to my Uncles and Dad tell about stories and jokes, then holding my sides because they hurt from laughing so hard at their humor.

I can remember seeing Grandma's house from the school yard as I played during recess. When the church bells would ring at noon, I knew that Grandma was saying the Angeles.

I can remember feeling sad because I never knew my Grandpa Bishop. He had died when I was very young.

I can remember how sad it was when Grandma was put in the nursing home and her house sold.

I can remember looking for her house and seeing that it was no longer there. How painful that was.

But I still have many beautiful memories of my Grandma though she no longer rocks in her chair and her house no longer stands.

Thank you Grandma!!!

With Love,

Sandy

Jackie writes:

I'm the youngest of the ten children of John & Helen (Klein) Bishop. I have 2 lovely children, Nicole and Jonathan. After high school, I worked at Michigan National Bank. I then hired into Buick in Flint. I have an Associates Degree in Business and Marketing/Management from Mott Community College in Flint, MI. While laid off from GM, I received my real estate license and worked for Century 21. I was finally called back to work at various GM plants and managed to get my 30 years in so I could retire. Being the youngest child, I didn't do much farm work. When I was in the 3rd grade, Dad built the restaurant and party store so we all had to help there too. Starting at the age of 12, I washed dishes on weekends. The youngest 5 in our family worked as waitresses, cooks, & dishwashers in the restaurant, and cashiers/managers in the party store. The older 5 helped in many other ways. Bernie was the maintenance man and also worked on the farm. Dad worked 2nd shift at GM as a welder and then stopped at the restaurant on his way home to balance out the cash registers. Mom did all of the bookwork, the laundry, made and sold crafts, and many "behind the scenes" kind of things. It was definitely a "Family restaurant"! We always had our Christmas party there because that was the only day Dad would close the place. He always wanted to be open 24/7 so truck drivers had someplace to stop. We still have our Christmas party on Christmas Day in Dad's memory but usually at St. Mike's Gym.
